

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to a process for separating substances, which are bonded to a polymer surface via a linker, by adding a polar organic solvent.